WILL INTRODUCE EXCISE BILL FIRST OF THE WEEK

Brewers Credited With Many Roads Having Had It Prepared

RETAILERS ARE OPPOSED

Are Satisfied With Present Method of Granting Liquor Licenses

(Special Correspondence)

Harrisburg, March 23.—It is now stated that the excise bill, which takes the granting of the liquor licenses out of the hands of the courts and places it in the hands of a commission of three, has been completed and will be introduced in the Legislature Monday. The percentage of this bill is somewhat shrouded in mystery. It is announced that it is the work of the judges, but while the latter no doubt heartily approve the proposed shift, it is pretty generally believed that the brewing interests are back of the bill. The very nature of the measure indicates this, as it is so drawn up that the salary of the commissioners appointed to grant the licenses will depend upon a commission levied upon each license. It therefore follows that the more licenses the commissioners grant, the greater will be their compensation.

Retailers, however, particularly in Washington county, will not be in favor of the measure. They are well content with present conditions, and as they are under strict surveillance of the courts, there are no marked violations on the part of the license holders. One of the most objectionable features to the commission plan is that the liquor question would figure more prominently than ever in politics. None of the political interests seem to be backing the bill, neither does it have any particular opposition at first hand. It looks as though it is to be put out as a feeler, and if sentiment is pronounced against it the bill will be withdrawn. If the public is indifferent it is likely to be put through.

The school code will occupy a special place on the calendar next Tuesday. A hot fight is expected on this, as it is stated that a number of "snakes" appear in the measure. A weights and measures bill for cities and counties is under way, but it is not yet known whether or not the bill has been marked for passage or slaughter.

More Desired Than There is Money To Pay For Building

Under existing laws many applications have been made for State aid in the construction of roads in the county. Thus far the total application aggregate 214 miles, of which but 22 miles have been completed. In the pro rata of funds granted the separate counties by the State, Washington's share up to the first of this year was $243,327.64, and the amount expended in the construction of the 22 miles is $279,908.61.

SLATE FALL KILLS NINE COAL MINERS

Men Meet Death As They Are Going To Work

POSTS ARE KNOCKED DOWN

Nine men were almost instantly killed and one man seriously injured in a heavy fall of slate at the Hazel mine, of the Pittsburgh-Buffalo, Coal company at Canonsburg yesterday. The accident occurred as the men were being taken to work.

About 65 men were being taken in the mine the motor being driven by Edward Sherron a negro. When the train of cars arrived at the eighth parting in the main entry, about two miles from the entry, the second car from the motor jumped the track witnesses say, and its protruding corner knocked down three posts supporting three "T" iron rails which braced the roofings of the shaft at this point. Instantly 15 tons of slate fell, crushing ten men that were in the second car from the motor.

The victims were removed as soon as possible, and the only one who could be identified was David Donley, 60 years old, and the only American killed. He was one of the best known miners of the Canonsburg region and has lived in the vicinity of Canonsburg for the past quarter of a century.

SUSPENSION OF MINES PUTS NUMBER OF MEN OUT OF EMPLOYMENT

BUILDING OPERATIONS DULL IN THE LARGER TOWNS

The suspension of a number of mines in the Monongahela valley and the lack of building operations generally has resulted in comparatively dull times for this districts. Many men are out of work.

In the third, fourth and fifth pools many of the mines are either entirely closed down or running irregularly. There is little demand for coal except by the factories of the Pittsburgh district just at present, owing to the large amount recently shipped south and stored for future use there, and the lack of the lake trade. The Vesta mines which supply the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation are probably running as steadily as any of the mines hereabouts. There is practically no important building work going on now with the exception of that being done by the Nicola Construction company at Newell for the General Chemical company. At North Charleroi there have been a number of dwellings put up, and some are in the course of erection in Charleroi and in most of the other towns there is little doing in the way of building.

All the local mills are running, however, and the Monessen mills are operating the most of the time. Some of the departments in the lesser plants there are closed down indefinitely, but it is expected will resume in the spring some time. The opening of the lake coal trade will also probably have a good effect on business in this district.

CHIMNEY FIRE CAUSES SCARE

Fire Alarm Rung in But Firemen Are Not Needed To Quench Blaze

When flames suddenly burst from a chimney of the Wilbur Hotel last night witnesses on the street got excited and at once jumped to the conclusion that a serious hotel fire was starting. An alarm was hastily turned in and the firemen aroused. But before they could turn out some of the sensible persons who realized that the fire was nothing more than flames caused by burning soot, and consequently not in the least dangerous, informed Chief Fleming of the trouble and prevented more annoyance. What excitement was caused among the hotel guests was quickly dispelled by a few explanations.

HELD FOR THEFT OF A SADDLE

Dunlevy Man is Also Charged With Chicken Stealing

TAKEN TO COUNTY JAIL

William Sethman was taken to jail at Washington this morning to await the action of the grand jury on two charges preferred by Constable David Mathers of North Charleroi. The cases were for larceny of a saddle belonging to Constable Thomas Cowell of Dunlevy and the larceny of chickens. Information was made before Justice of the Peace E. E. Rice. Sethman lives at Dunlevy. He appeared in Charleroi the other night with a number of chickens which he disposed of. The police hearing of the matter went to his home and made a search of the premises, and while there found the saddle which Cowell identified as one that had been stolen from him some time before. Mrs. Sethman made an affidavit that they kept no chickens and that Sethman had not been averse to stealing previously.

BOXING PROMOTER NOW UNDER ARREST

Charged With Serious Offense By Pittsburger On Behalf of Daughter

Charged with enticing a minor child away from home, Al Martin, the well known boxer who promoted fights in this community was arrested last night at Monessen and will be taken to Pittsburgh today to answer to the charge preferred against him. The informant in the case is Walter Fletcher, formerly of Washington but now of Pittsburgh. Fletcher alleges that Martin on last Thursday enticed his daughter, Miss Pearl Fletcher to Pittsburgh where he registered with her at a hotel as man and wife and that later he took her to Monessen.

The Fletcher girl is about 17 years of age. At Monessen she and Martin were supposed to be stopping at a boarding house.

"THE ROSARY" GIVEN BY A GOOD COMPANY

It has been some time since so good a play as "The Rosary," produced at Coyle Theatre last night has been given in Charleroi. The play, which is one strong in moral tone and true to life, was capably produced by an excellent company. All the roles were well taken and reproduced as the author of the drama meant that they should be. The story is that of the regeneration of a business man whose doubt of his wife led him into complexities and nearly ruined his life.

Slight Damage Done By Fire

Much Smoke But Little Blaze At Home of Foreign Family

A fire this morning at the home of Thomas Meli, at the rear of 537 Mc Kean avenue, caused a scare, but did little damage. Flames originating supposedly from a light in the basement of the one story structure caused intense smoke to issue from the window, and it was thought when the alarm was turned in that there was a serious fire in progress. Chemicals were used effectively by the firemen and the flames extinguished with little loss to the occupants. Most of the damage was by smoke.

PHYSICIAN GIVES LIFE FOR SCIENCE

New York Case Attracts Considerable Local Attention

NEPHEW OF REV. SHEY

The news of the death of Dr. Edward F. Ashley, the young New York bacteriologist who sacrificed his life in the interest of science, is of special interest to Charleroi people, from the fact that he was a nephew of Rev. L. W. Shey, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church. Dr. Ashley recently in the interests of science performed an autopsy of the body of a Greek immigrant, in search of the spinal meningitis germ. On last Sunday he became ill, and Tuesday afternoon he died from meningitis contracted as a result of the autopsy and a complication of other diseases. The young man was 33 years old and had started out brilliantly in his profession. A serum which had been used successfully to cure other cases of meningitis was injected but there was a complication of other diseases which made the one disease harder to cope with. The young man only lived 48 hours afterward. Burial was as soon as possible after death owing to the contagious disease, from the home of Dr. Ashley's parents, in Middlebury, Conn.

HELD FOR COURT ACTION

Car Burglaries at Marianna Supposed To Be Due To Two Men

Implicating Fred Elwanger, the sole survivor of the Marianna mine horror of a few years ago in wholesale Marianna car robberies, Ed. Walters yesterday before Alderman Day at Monongahela made a complete confession of the work Walters was brought back from Ohio this week by Constable J. C. Simpson of Marianna and P. R. R. Detective J. R. Chalfant. Charged to his credit in addition to the car robberies is that of horse stealing.

In his statement to Alderman Day Walters declares that he and Elwanger went into the affair together. He says Elwanger entered freight cars at Marianna and handed out to him groceries, butter, eggs and clothing to the value of about $100. Walters says this plunder was taken to Elwanger's house. Part of it he states they used themselves and part of it they gave to their friends, while a large quantity was taken by Walters to the home of his stepister, Mrs. Minerva Beading of Marianna.

As the result of the confession today a warrant was issued for Elwanger charging him with entering a railway car with intent to commit a felony. Elwanger was arrested last night at Marianna and this morning before Alderman Day was given a hearing. He was unable to furnish bail which was placed at $100, and was taken to jail. Walters will have to answer the charge of larceny.

FORMER CHARLEROI GIRL MAKING GOOD

Miss Blanch Babbitt In "The Paradise of Mahomet" Company

In the April issue of the Blue Book, the show magazine, in two of the show pictures is portrayed a face that is familiar to Charleroi people, as the original is a former Charleroi girl, who has been making good in one of the best New York companies of today. This is none other than Miss Blanche Babbitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Babbitt, who is now with the "The Paradise of Mahomet" company. Miss Babbitt has a good role in the production, and in one of the pictures is shown with three others on the stage and Miss Grace Van Studdford, the star, as the latter as Bengaline sings "The Joy of Love." In another picture Miss Babbitt is recognized as one of the company of young women posing in one of the most beautiful scenes.

The Utilities Bill

Advices from Harrisburg state that the public utilities bill, completed at last by Attorney General John C. Bell, with much assistance, lies on the desk of Governor Tener in shape for presentation to the Legislature. The Governor is surveying it with pleasure as the great administration effort, and is expected to turn it over to the law makers early next week.

While it is not on view to those outside the administration circle, it is said to be a real public utilities bill, a bill with teeth, creating a commission with power to make, decree and enforce them, subject to court review. It wipes out the present State railroad commission, whose power is limited to recommendation.

All kinds of public utilities, railroads, street railways, telegraph and telephone concerns, canals, etc., are brought under the proposed commission. The commission is to consist of five members appointed by the Governor. One member must be a transportation expert, one a man learned in the law, one an economist, and two can be chosen from among the common people.

The utilities commission is to be empowered to deal with conditions of service, rates, connections and schedules, with authority to make investigations and issue decrees. Further, it is to have supervision of stock and bond issues, and may forbid the construction of a utility plant on a line which it considers objectionable. If the utility corporations do not like its mandates, they can appeal to the courts.

How to make the mandatory provisions constitutional has been a legal problem, but Attorney General Bell and his advisers think they have hit upon the way. They have wrestled for weeks with various drafts of bills and sections of bills before arriving at the finished product.

A New Ironsides

About two generations ago, when it was proposed to dismantle and destroy the old United States frigate Constitution which maintained "Old

Glory's" supremacy on the ocean in the war of 1812, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote his immortal poem, "Old Ironsides," which stirred the patriotic blood of the nation to such a heat that a storm of protest prevented the proposed destruction. In this year of grace, 1911, the battleship Texas, which did such valiant service in the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago, has been ignominiously "sunk beneath the wave," as a target for her more modern and up-to-date sister ships.

Thus ends the career of the Texas, unhonored and unsung. The part she played in maintaining the supremacy of the United States navy is every bit as important as that of "Old Ironsides." In this sordid age, however, sentiment has no part, and the glorious career of the Texas aroused no patriotic recollections. All the comments that the incident looked was the expensiveness of the target, as the cost of the Texas had exceeded five million dollars, and the wasting of the scrap by sinking it instead of selling it to the junk dealer. There was no national bard to sing a requiem for the ignominious exit of the valiant Texas which in fifteen years had outlived her usefulness.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A popular conductor on the P. V. and C., whose home is at West Brownsville, has a little five year old son who promises to be as good a mixer and judge of human nature as is his father. The boy is sometimes taken over the run between Brownsville and Pittsburg by his father, and as a consequence is enamored of railroad life. As a result he plays "train" constantly.

One day, when his mother was sewing on the machine at home, the little fellow ranged a row of chairs back of her and "played" she was the engine. The whirr of the machine made a good imitation of the train and in response to commands the mother would call out "toot, toot," occasionally, while the boy walked up and down punching imaginary tickets with an old punch his father had given him.

All at once he announced: "Nothin' doin'." That — — — of a dispatcher has hung up us behind 57.

His mother, horrified at the shocking display of profanity, jumped up from the machine, but the little fellow, standing beside the last chair of his train, waved her back with this admonition: "Go back to your cab, you — — — I'm running this train. When I want any of your guff I'll call on you."

As it was clearly evident that the lad was a chip off the old block he was let off in this particular case with a stern rebuke and an admonition never to do it again.

At a teachers' institutes held recently in one of the rural townships, a school-ma'am in attendance related how a bright boy made a bit in the history class. It was her custom to have the class read the history lesson alternately, and then to develop the points by questioning the pupils as to the why and wherefore of things. In this case she was trying to show the strategic significance of Washington's campaign in the first years of the Revolutionary War.

"Willie," she asked, "why did Washington cross the Delaware?"

"For the same reason the ben crossed the road," replied Willie, grinning foolishly. "I reckon he wanted to get on the other side."

Willie was sharply reprimanded for his impertinence, but he justified himself by remarking: "I thought youse was tryin' to kid me."

THE CAUSE OF COLDS

Good Advice Regarding the Prevention of Coughs and Colds

If people would only fortify and strengthen the system, the majority of cases of coughs, colds and pneumonia might be avoided. These troubles are frequently due to weakness, which produces a catarrhal condition of the mucous membrane, which is an internal skin of the body. When this skin is weakened it becomes easily infected with germs which cause many of the diseases to which flesh is heir. Healthy mucous membranes are essential safeguards of the body's general health.

We have a remedy which we honestly believe to be unsurpassed in excellence for the prevention of coughs, colds and all catarrhal conditions. It is the prescription of a famous physician, who has an enviable reputation of thirty years of cures gained through the use of this formula. We promise to make no charge for the medicine should it fail to do as we claim. We urge everybody who has need of such a medicine to try Rexall Mucu-Tone.

It stands to reason that we could not afford to make such statements and give our own personal guarantee to this remedy if we were not prepared to prove the reasonableness of our claim in every particular, and we see no reasons why any one should hesitate to accept our offer and try it. We have two sizes of Rexall Mucu-Tone, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Sometimes a 50 cent bottle is sufficient to give marked relief. As a general thing the most chronic case is relieved with an average of three large bottles. You can obtain Rexall Remedies in Charleroi only at our store—The Rexall Store, Carroll Drug Store, 623 Fallowfield avenue.

Right to the Point.
When the lord chief justice visited Ireland he was often entertained by a hospitable gentleman who had an old butler, who took the privilege of speaking his mind freely. On one occasion the claret did not quite meet the host's approval, so he called the ancient butler and said:

"I told you you were to put the best claret on the table. Is this the best?" "No, sorr, it is not the best claret," replied the old fellow, "but it's the best ye've got."—London Tix-Bits.

Puzzled the Packer.

The first organized work of women in a relief corps was led by Florence Nightingale in the Crimean war of 1855. So unaccustomed were people to that service at the time that it called out some curious comment. Writing of "Chinese" Gordon, Dr. Butler tells in his book, "Ten Great and Good Men," how the boys at Cambridge met the call upon them for hospital stores.

One day a letter came suddenly from the war office telling us that any warm clothes for the invalids at Scutari would be prized by Miss Florence Nightingale. At once in every college a committee was extemporized of leading undergraduates, charged to collect presents of flannel jackets, trousers, "blazers," rugs, greatcoats, furs, even sealskins.

In a few hours box after box was filled with these treasures, and all the boxes were kindly and gratuitously packed for us by the leading upholsterer of the town, his foreman simply remarking to me in a tone which General Gordon would have enjoyed: "A nice consignment for a lady, sir."

Cause of Twilight.

Twilight is a phenomenon caused by atmospheric refraction. When the sun gets below the horizon we are not immediately plunged into the darkness of night. Although the sun is below our horizon, rays of solar light are bent or refracted by the terrestrial atmosphere and continue to furnish some slight illumination. The process continues with diminishing intensity until the sun is so far below the horizon that the refracting power of the atmosphere is no longer able to bend the rays enough to produce a visible effect. The time after sunset that the sun reaches such a position varies with the latitude of the place. There is less twilight at the tropic zone than at the temperate or frigid zone. This is due to less time taken by the sun's rays to pass through the atmosphere, at the tropic zone the sun's rays being perpendicular and at the temperate and frigid zones oblique.—New York American.

With a Grain of Salt.

The earliest record of the saying "with a grain of salt" dates back to the year 63 B. C., when the great Pompey entered the palace of Mithridates and discovered among his private papers the description of an antidote against poisons of all sorts, which was composed of pounded herbs. These, according to the recipe, were to be taken with a grain of salt. Whether this was meant seriously or as a warning sarcasm is not known, but thenceforth it became the custom to say that doubtful preparations should be taken with a grain of salt. From this the meaning got transferred to sayings of doubtful truth. "Attic salt" was a Greek synonym for wit or penetration, and the Latin word "sal" had somewhat of the same meaning. It is thus easy to see how the saying "cum grano salis" could have come to mean the necessity of accepting doubtful or suspicious statements "with a grain of salt."

Molokai and the Lepers.

The general idea of the leper settlement on the island of Molokai is wrong, says a writer in Harper's Weekly. Instead of the entire island being used for the leper colony the settlement comprises only eight square miles out of a total area of 261 square miles. It occupies a tongue of land on the northern side of Molokai. The north, east and west shores of this tiny spit are washed by the Pacific, while on the south side rise precipitous cliffs of from 1,800 to 4,000 feet, which make the isolation seem even more hopeless than the beautiful deep blue waters of the sea ever could. The most difficult and dangerous trail, constantly manned by government guards, foils escape, if it were ever contemplated, by the land side.

Stupid Husband of a Noted Singer.
Catalani's husband, a handsome Frenchman, was even more unintellectual than his wife—he was stupid. Once, having found the pitch of the piano too high, she said after the rehearsal to her husband: "The piano is too high. Will you see that it is made lower before the concert?" When the evening came Catalani was annoyed to find that the piano had not been altered. Her husband sent for the carpenter, who declared that he had sawed off two inches from each leg, as he had been ordered to do. "Surely it can't be too high now, my dear," said the stupid husband soothingly.

Through the Cracks.

When the celebrated divine Edward Irving was on a preaching tour in Scotland two Dumfries men of decided opinions went to hear him. When they left the hall one said to the other: "Well, Willie, what do you think?" "Oh," said the other contemptuously, "the man's cracked!" The first speaker laid a quiet hand on his shoulder. "Will," said he, "you'll often see a light peeping through a crack."

Griggs—So you got home from the club at midnight. Well, I suppose you told wife you had to work late at the office. Played upon her sympathies, eh? Briggs—Well—er—yes, but I rather her sympathies were out of tune or I'm a darned poor instrumentalist.—Boston Transcript.

By virtue of a writ of Lev. Fa. Sur Mortgage issued out of the court of Common Pleas of Washington County, and to me directed, there will be exposed at public sale at the Sheriff's Sales Room, in Court House, in the Borough of Washington, the 1st day of April, 1911, at 1:30 o'clock p. m. of said day the following described real estate, viz:

All the right, title and interest of the defendants, in and to all that certain parcel of land lying in the town of Charleroi, county of Washington, and State of Pennsylvania, and described as follows: Lot Three Hundred and Twenty-nine, Section A, (329 Sec. "A"), in the general plan Third streets, fronting on Meadow avenue forty (40) feet and running back one hundred and five (105) feet to a twenty feet wide alley upon which property is erected a four room frame dwelling, one and one-half stories high, with cellar, brick foundation and shingle roof, with a small barn on gaged by C. H. Chandler, deceased, to the Charleroi Land Company, by mortgage dated September 14, 1905, and recorded in Mortgage Book 102, page 41, to secure balance of unpaid purchase money. Taken in execution at the property of the Charleroi Savings & Trust Company, Adm'r. of C. H. Chandler, deceased, with notice to Solomon Minner and Josephine Minner, terre-tenants, at the suit of The Charleroi Land Company.

ARTISTS' EMBLEMS.

In Whistler's Butterfly Could Be Found the Monogram J. W.

The mystic emblem or device of a sort of Whistlerized butterfly was adopted in the sixties by the eccentric genius James Abbott Whistler, who changed his name later to James McNeill Whistler.

Close study will reveal that this peculiar scroll is really a monogram of J. W. The earliest of the etchings to bear the butterfly is "Chelsea Wharf" (1863), but many paintings and etchings after that date are signed "Whistler."

Artists have sometimes signed their pictures in some distinct form instead of their names. It generally was done when the name might suggest some emblem or symbol.

Thus Hieronymus Cock demarked two fighting cocks on his panels; Mariotto Albertinelli signed a cross with two interlaced rings, referring to the sacerdotal duties to which at one time of his life he devoted himself; Martin Rota, a wheel; Pieter de Tyng, a ring with a diamond; Giovanni Dossi, a bone; Del Mazo Martinez, a hammer; Lionello Spada, a sword.

Sometimes caprice dictated the selection, as when Jacopo de Barbert used the caduceus, or Mercury rod; Hendrik de Bles an owl, Lucas Cranach a crowned serpent, Cornelius Engelbrechtsen a peculiar device resembling a weather vane and Hans Holbein a skull.

HIS GREAT IDEA.

The Tin Plated Tomato and the Moral That Goes With It.

A good theory that won't work isn't half as good as a poor one that will.

Twenty years ago a young man just out of college had a great idea. He was going to tin plate tomatoes. There was to be no more troublesome paring and cooking and canning to preserve tomatoes throughout winters. It would be necessary only to drop a nice ripe tomato into his tinning solution and it would come out coated with tin and would keep for twenty years. In fact there wasn't any reason why it should not keep forever! The young inventor figured it would cost him 50 cents a gallon to make this tinning solution. It surely would sell for $2 a gallon. Every one eats tomatoes—that is, nearly every one. Everybody would eat them if they could always have a nice tin plated tomato lying around. He ought to sell a million gallons a year. That would be a profit of a million and a half dollars. Well, no tin plated tomatoes are on the market yet, and the man who invented them is still making only $15 a week.

The moral of this is that whenever you hear of a great idea that is going to reform or uplift the world make sure that it is not the tin plated tomato brand.—Chicago Tribune.

A Lottery Romance.

A few years ago, as the date for the drawing of the annual Christmas lottery at Madrid was approaching, a poor mechanic of Corunna was awakened three consecutive nights by the number 125,869, apparently spoken in his ear. So impressed was he by the repetition of the incident that he wrote down the number and jocularly said to his wife, "That number will win the first prize in the great lottery." "Then why don't you buy the ticket?" his wife answered jokingly as she looked at the figures. "Why, see, if you add them together they just come to my age. I shall be thirty-one on Christmas day." The ticket, after much trouble, was found (it had been rejected a few minutes earlier by a wealthy citizen of Corunna) and bought, and before many days had passed the mechanic and his wife were made jubilant by the news that the ticket had won the first prize of £200,000.—London Globe.

The Red Shirt.

The origin of the "red shirt"—worn as a blouse by English women in the sixties, when Garibaldi was a popular idol throughout Great Britain—is sufficiently curious. When the celebrated filibuster was warring in the South American republics he was anxious to obtain a distinctive and, above all, economical uniform for his followers. He learned that a local dry goods store had an immense "job lot" of these garments, worn by the "saladeros," or cattle slaughterers, of the great South American cities. The "bar gain sale" appealed eloquently to the leader's purse, and he led his men to victory in the butchers' shirts, which are now the accepted emblem of the "Risorgimento" of United Italy.—London Globe.

"No, I haven't."

"Yes, you have, and you'll be drunk again."

"Aw, what do you want to worry about that for? It's me that has the headache next morning."

"I know, John, but it's me that has the headache all the time."—New York Times.

The Price of Love.

Says an advertisement in the London Express: "Mary—Waited three hours at appointed spot until questioned by suspicious policeman. If this is the price of love it is too heavy a one for me to pay. Farewell. Potts."

Time and Patience.

No road is too long for him who advances slowly and does not hurry, and no attainment is beyond his reach who equips himself with patience to achieve it.—La Bruyere.

Lungs Declared Sound—Life Insurance Granted.

If you knew a remedy that really had cured Tuberculosis, that had saved from death quite a number of people, would you try to get Consumptives interested in it and induce them to take it; or, would you say nothing about it, for fear of giving offence?

We know the medicine. We know the people cured—some of them. We have the stories of cure of many—and affidavits from some. We advise Eckman's Alternative to tell those who have lung disease what has been done by its use. Investigate the following:

Gentlemen: "On the evening of May 23, 1907, I had five hemorrhages from the right lung. My hemorrhages kept up for one week—I had twenty-eight in all. Septic pneumonia developed. My doctor told me I had better go to another climate as my left lung had also become affected. About that time I met Howard Klotz 1619 Susquehanna Ave., this city, who had hemorrhages several years ago and who was cured by Eckman's Alternative. I started to take Eckman's about the latter part of August, 1907. My appetite improved at once and in about two weeks I started to gain weight. I improved steadily. Later, a very bad lameness developed in my right leg and I commenced to get a lump on my right hip. My doctor told me I was getting a tubercular abscess and that it was affecting the sciatic nerve. The lameness and lump gradually disappeared. Have not had any trouble of that nature since."

Since my recovery about a year ago, I was accepted for life insurance, after two examinations by a company that had previously rejected me.

I have advised several people to take Eckman's and those who took it, fully had the same results as myself. (Signed Affidavit) CHAS. MORGAN, Eckman's Alternative cures Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Affections. BATHTUBS IN MEXICO.

Made of Cement, They Are a Real Luxury in a Hot Climate.

"Unless you have been in the tropics," remarked the man who had just returned from a trip to Mexico, "you can't possibly realize how great a luxury a cold bath can be. It's not that the climate is necessarily warmer than a New York summer, but the natives have worked out the problem of bathing to its ultimate conclusions. They have invented the ideal tub."

"On the great private estates in Mexico baths are in use today which were hewn out of the solid rock centuries ago by slave labor. They are located for the most part in the vicinity of running water and are fed by bamboo pipes, but in many cases they have to be filled by the old fashioned method of carrying a bucket to and from the spring."

"In the cities the so called stone baths are made of cement. The residences of all well to do people are provided with them, and they are a feature of the native hotels. They are usually about ten feet long by four deep—baby swimming tanks, in fact."

"The tropical custom is to fill the baths late at night. By the following morning the water will have acquired a limpid coolness that acts like a tonic upon the body. When one remembers that near the equator it is almost as warm in the morning as it is at noon and that water taken direct from the city mains is always tepid the advantage of the stone or cement bath is evident."—New York Sun.

The National Flag.

The first display of the national flag at a military post was at Fort Schuyler, on the site of the present city of Rome, N. Y. The fort was besieged early in August, 1777. The garrison was without a flag, so one was made according to the prescription of congress by cutting up sheets to form the white stripes, bits of scarlet cloth for the red stripes, and the blue ground for the stars was made from a piece of the blue cloak belonging to Captain Abraham Swartwout of Dutchess county, N. Y. This flag was unfurled over the fort on Aug. 3, 1777.

The national flag was first unfurled in battle on the banks of the Brandywine Sept. 11, 1777. The flag was first hoisted over a foreign stronghold June 28, 1778, when Captain Ratbone of the American sloop of war Providence captured Fort Nassau, on the Bahama Islands. Captain Paul Jones was the first man to display the American flag on an American vessel. This flag was made by the women of Portsmouth, N. H., for the Ranger, which was fitted out at that port for Captain Jones. The Ranger sailed from Portsmouth on Nov. 1, 1777.

Buried Landscapes.

One of the most curious results of geological exploration is the discovery of "buried landscapes," by which is meant parts of the former face of the earth now covered under later deposits, but yet retaining so many of their original features that the geologist can ideally reconstruct the scenes that would have been presented to the eye of man if he had been present among them. Sometimes buried landscapes exist in countries now densely inhabited. Investigation has shown that one lies beneath the region in England known as Charnwood forest. The rocky projections seen there are the peaks and aretes of a buried mountain chain belonging to the old red sandstone period. Several different phases in the history of this landscape have been traced. At one time it contained salt lakes and desert expanses. In its modern form it is a pastoral region with barren, stony tracts and rocky eminences where the ancient mountains project through the soil.—Detroit Free Press.

HOW I WAS CURED OF SCROFULA

"I was in a very bad condition with scrofulous swellings round my neck. It started with a bunch on the side of my neck and it kept growing until the whole side of my face was swollen."

"I had tried everything in the shape of medicines for five years. I had gone under an operation in one of the hospitals in Boston and had them cut out. I had thirty little tubular glands taken from back of my ear down my shoulder. After the cuts healed over they started to come again and worse than before."

"After suffering so much I thought I would try Pinkham's Blood Purifier and before I had taken two bottles there was a great change in the swellings. I continued its use and to-day I am a well woman Every word of this is true."

The tendency to Scrofula seems to be hereditary and it is hard to overcome. It may lie dormant for years, and then break out anew from time to time.

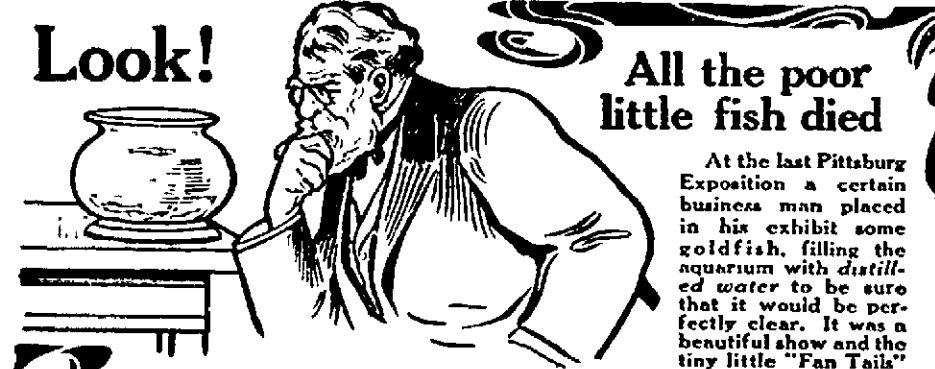

The only known remedy for Scrofula is to keep the blood pure and rich by the use of a good blood purifier. It may require long treatment, but Mrs. Haynes found that Pinkham's Blood Purifier cured her of this dreadful disease, after all other means had failed.

Pinkham's Blood Purifier is equally as good for all diseases emanating from impure, impoverished blood, and is the best Spring medicine known. People will find the Blood Purifier just as reliable a remedy as the women of the world have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Unequalled—satisfying and dependable.

"LOOK OUT FOR THE CARS"

DO YOU know of anyone who is old enough to read, who has not seen that sign at a railroad crossing?

If everyone has seen it at some time or other, then why doesn't the railroad let the sign rot away? Why does the railroad industry continue to keep those signs at every crossing?

Maybe you think, Mr. Merchant, "Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise."

Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroads need to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars."

The Department Stores are a very good example—they are continually advertising—and they are continually doing a good business.

If it pays to run a few ads round about Christmas time, it certainly will pay you to run advertisements about all the time.

M'CUTCHEON PLAY
AT COYLE THEATRE

Geo. D. Baker's adaption of Grace Hayward's dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's novel "Graustark," is to be the attraction at the Coyle Theatre Saturday night, March 25

The theme of "Graustark," is as well known as any of the novels of recent years, and the play follows closely Mr. McCutcheon's book for stage purposes. The dramatization is along romantic lines and there are numerous climaxes and situations, made more effective by presentation on the stage. The play is well constructed and acted with a dash and spirit looked for in all first class productions.

The locale of the play leads itself to beautiful scenic environments, all heightened by the costuming of the characters in the national dress of the country. The company presenting the play is an adequate one, all the members of same having been highly commended for their individual and ensemble efforts. As a dramatization of one of the popular American novels, "Graustark," is well worth seeing.

MAMY VISITORS AT SPRING OPENING

Many visitors attended the spring opening today at Berryman's big department store. The store is finely decorated. In fact never at any previous opening was the display of goods so nicely arranged or the entire store fitted up to such advantage. The millinery department is the Mecca for women, and there is shown the latest styles and shapes of spring millinery.

WILL INTRODUCE EXCISE BILL FIRST OF THE WEEK

Brewers Credited With Many Roads Having Had It Prepared

RETAILERS ARE OPPOSED

Are Satisfied With Present Method of Granting Liquor Licenses

(Special Correspondence)

Harrisburg, March 23.—It is now stated that the excise bill, which takes the granting of the liquor licenses out of the hands of the courts and places it in the hands of a commission of three, has been completed and will be introduced in the Legislature Monday. The passage of this bill is somewhat abridged in mystery. It is announced that it is the work of the judges, but while the latter no doubt heartily approve the proposed shift, it is pretty generally believed that the brewing interests are back of the bill. The very nature of the measure indicates this, as it is so drawn up that the salary of the commissioners appointed to grant the licenses will depend upon a commission levied upon each license. It therefore follows that the more licenses the commissioners grant, the greater will be their compensation.

Retailers, however, particularly in Washington county, will not be in favor of the measure. They are well content with present conditions, and as they are under strict surveillance of the courts, there are no marked violations on the part of the license holders. One of the most objectionable features to the commission plan is that the liquor question would figure more prominently than ever in politics. None of the political interests seem to be backing the bill, neither does it have any particular opposition at first hand. It looks as though it is to be put out as a feeler, and if sentiment is pronounced against it the bill will be withdrawn. If the public is indifferent it is likely to be put through.

The school code will occupy a special place on the calendar next Tuesday. A hot fight is expected on this, as it is stated that a number of "snakes" appear in the measure. A weights and measures bill for cities and counties is under way, but it is not yet known whether or not the bill has been marked for passage or slaughter.

BUILDING OPERATIONS DULL IN THE LARGER TOWNS

The suspension of a number of building work going on now with the exception of that being done by the Nicola Construction company at Newell for the General Chemical company. At North Charleroi there have been a number of dwellings put up, and some are in the course of erection in Charleroi and in most of the other towns there is little doing in the way of building.

All the local mills are running, however, and the Monessen mills are operating the most of the time. Some of the departments in the lesser plants there are closed down indefinitely, but it is expected will resume in the spring some time. The opening of the lake coal trade will also probably have a good effect on business in this district.

CHIMNEY FIRE CAUSES SCARE

BOXING PROMOTER NOW UNDER ARREST

Charged With Serious Offense By Pittsburger On Behalf of Daughter

When flames suddenly burst from a chimney of the Wilbur Hotel last night witnesses on the street got excited and at once jumped to the conclusion that a serious hotel fire was starting. An alarm was hastily turned in and the firemen aroused. But before they could turn out some of the sensible persons who realized that the fire was nothing more than flames caused by burning soot, and consequently not in the least dangerous, informed Chief Fleming of the trouble and prevented more annoyance. What excitement was caused among the hotel guests was quickly dispelled by a few explanations.

Charged with enticing a minor child away from home, Al Martin, the well known boxer who promoted fights in this community was arrested last night at Monessen and will be taken to Pittsburg today to answer to the charge preferred against him. The informant in the case is Walter Fletcher, formerly of Washington but now of Pittsburg. Fletcher alleges that Martin on last Thursday enticed his daughter, Miss Pearl Fletcher to Pittsburg where he registered with her at a hotel as man and wife and that later he took her to Monessen.

The Fletcher girl is about 17 years of age. At Monessen she and Martin were supposed to be stopping at a boarding house.

"THE ROSARY" GIVEN BY A GOOD COMPANY

It has been some time since so good a play as "The Rosary," produced at Coyle Theatre last night has been given in Charleroi. The play, which is one strong in moral tone and true to life, was capably produced by an excellent company. All the roles were well taken and reproduced as the author of the drama meant that they should be. The story is that of the regeneration of a business man whose doubt of his wife led him into complexities and nearly ruined his life.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Richardson are spending the day in Pittsburg.

William Sethman was taken to jail at Washington this morning to await the action of the grand jury on two charges preferred by Constable David Mathers of North Charleroi. The cases were for larceny of a saddle belonging to Constable Thomas Cowell of Dunlevy and the larceny of chickens. Information was made before Justice of the Peace E. E. Rice. Sethman lives at Dunlevy. He appeared in Charleroi the other night with a number of chickens which he disposed of. The police hearing of the matter went to his home and made a search of the premises, and while there found the saddle which Cowell identified as one that had been stolen from him some time before. Mrs. Sethman made an affidavit that they kept no chickens and that Sethman had not been averse to stealing previously.

Car Burglaries at Marianna Supposed To Be Due To Two Men

A fire this morning at the home of Thomas Meli, at the rear of 537 McKean avenue, caused a scare, but did little damage. Flames originating supposedly from a light in the basement of the one story structure caused intense smoke to issue from the window, and it was thought when the alarm was turned in that there was a serious fire in progress. Chemicals were used effectively by the firemen and the flames extinguished with little loss to the occupants. Most of the damage was by smoke.

PHYSICIAN GIVES LIFE FOR SCIENCE

New York Case Attracts Considerable Local Attention

NEPHEW OF REV. SHEY

The news of the death of Dr. Edward F. Ashley, the young New York bacteriologist who sacrificed his life in the interest of science, is of special interest to Charleroi people, from the fact that he was a nephew of Rev. L. W. Shey, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church. Dr. Ashley recently in the interests of science performed an autopsy of the body of a Greek immigrant, in search of the spinal meningitis germ. On last Sunday he became ill, and Tuesday afternoon he died from meningitis contracted as a result of the autopsy and a complication of other diseases. The young man was 33 years old and had started out brilliantly in his profession. A serum which had been used successfully to cure other cases of meningitis was injected but there was a complication of other diseases which made the one disease harder to cope with. The young man only lived 48 hours afterward. Burial was as soon as possible after death owing to the contagious disease, from the home of Dr. Ashley's parents, in Middlebury, Conn.

FRAM DAMAGE SUIT IS SCHEDULED TODAY

FORMER CHARLEROI GIRL MAKING GOOD

Miss Blanch Babbitt In "The Paradise of Mahomet" Company

In the April issue of the Blue Book, the show magazine, in two of the show pictures is portrayed a face that is familiar to Charleroi people, as the original is a former Charleroi girl, who has been making good in one of the best New York companies of today. "This is none other than Miss Blanch Babbitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Babbitt, who is now with the "The Paradise of Mahomet," company. Miss Babbitt has a good role in the production, and in one of the pictures is shown with three others on the stage and Miss Grace Van Studdford, the star, as the latter as Bengaline sings "The Joy of Love." In another picture Miss Babbitt is recognized as one of the company of young women posing in one of the most beautiful scenes.

The Utilities Bill

Advices from Harrisburg state that the public utilities bill, completed at last by Attorney General John C. Bell, with much assistance, lies on the desk of Governor Tener in shape for presentation to the Legislature. The Governor is surveying it with pleasure as the great administration effort, and is expected to turn it over to the law makers early next week.

While it is not on view to those outside the administration circle, it is said to be a real public utilities bill, a bill with teeth, creating a commission with power to make, decrees and enforce them, subject to court review. It wipes out the present State railroad commission, whose power is limited to recommendation.

All kinds of public utilities, railroads, street railways, telegraph and telephone concerns, canal, etc., are brought under the proposed commission. The commission is to consist of five members appointed by the Governor. One member must be a transportation expert, one a man learned in the law, one an economist, and two can be chosen from among the common people.

The utilities commission is to be empowered to deal with conditions of service, rates, connections and schedules, with authority to make investigations and issue decrees. Further, it is to have supervision of stock and bond issues, and may forbid the construction of a utility plant on a line which it considers objectionable. If the utility corporations do not like its mandates, they can appeal to the courts.

How to make the mandatory provisions constitutional has been a legal problem, but Attorney General Bell and his advisers think they have hit upon the way. They have wrestled for weeks with various drafts of bills and sections of bills before arriving at the finished product.

A New Ironsides

About two generations ago, when it was proposed to dismantle and destroy the old United States frigate Constitution which maintained "Old

Glory's" supremacy on the ocean in the war of 1812, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote his immortal poem, "Old Ironsides," which stirred the patriotic blood of the nation to such a heat that a storm of protest prevented the proposed destruction. In this year of grace, 1911, the battleship Texas, which did such valiant service in the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago, has been ignominiously "sunk beneath the wave," as a target for her more modern and up-to-date sister ships.

Thus ends the career of the Texas, unhonored and unsung. The part she played in maintaining the supremacy of the United States navy is every bit as important as that of "Old Ironsides." In this sordid age, however, sentiment has no part, and the glorious career of the Texas aroused no patriotic recollections. All the comments that the incident looked was the expensiveness of the target, as the cost of the Texas had exceeded five million dollars, and the wasting of the scrap by sinking it instead of selling it to the junk dealer. There was no national bard to sing a requiem for the ignominious exit of the valiant Texas which in fifteen years had outlived her usefulness.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A popular conductor on the P. V. and C., whose home is at West Brownsville, has a little five year old son who promises to be as good a mixer and judge of human nature as his father. The boy is sometimes taken over the run between Brownsville and Pittsburg by his father, and as a consequence is enamored of railroad life. As a result he plays "train" constantly.

One day, when his mother was sewing on the machine at home, the little fellow ranged a row of chairs back of her and "played" she was the engine. The whirr of the machine made a good imitation of the train and in response to commands the mother would call out "toot, toot," occasionally, while the boy walked up and down punctuating imaginary tickets with an old punch his father had given him.

All at once he announced: "Nothin' doin'." That — — — of a dispatcher has hung us up behind 57."

His mother, horrified at the shocking display of profanity, jumped up from the machine, but the little fellow, standing beside the last chair of his train, waved her back with this admonition:

"Go back to your cab, you— — — I'm running this train. When I want any of your guff I'll call on you."

As it was clearly evident that the lad was a chip off the old block he was let off in this particular case with a stern rebuke and an admonition never to do it again.

At a teachers' institutes held recently in one of the rural townships, a school-meeting in attendance related how a bright boy made a hit in the history class. It was his custom to have the class read the history lesson alternately, and then to develop the points by questioning the pupils as to the why and wherefore of things. In this case she was trying to show the strategic significance of Washington's campaign in the first years of the Revolutionary War.

"Willie," she asked, "why did Washington cross the Delaware?" "For the same reason the hen crossed the road," replied Willie, grinning foolishly. "I reckon he wanted to get on the other side."

Willie was sharply reprimanded for his impertinence, but he justified himself by remarking: "I thought youse was tryin' to kid me."

THE CAUSE OF COLDS

If people would only fortify and strengthen the system, the majority of cases of coughs, colds and pneumonia might be avoided. These troubles are frequently due to weakness, which produces a catarrhal condition of the mucous membrane, which is an internal skin of the body. When this skin is weakened it becomes easily infected with germs which cause many of the diseases to which flesh is heir. Healthy mucous membranes are essential safeguards of the body's general health.

We have a remedy which we honestly believe to be unsurpassed in excellence for the prevention of coughs, colds and all catarrhal conditions. It is the prescription of a famous physician, who has an enviable reputation of thirty years of cures gained through the use of this formula. We promise to make no charge for the medicine should it fail to do as we claim. We urge everybody who has need of such a medicine to try Rexall Mucos-Tone.

It stands to reason that we could not afford to make such statements and give our own personal guarantee to this remedy if we were not prepared to prove the reasonableness of our claim in every particular, and we see no reasons why any one should hesitate to accept our offer and try it. We have two sizes of Rexall Mucos-Tone, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Sometimes a 50 cent bottle is sufficient to give marked relief. As a general thing the most chronic case is relieved with an average of three large bottles. You can obtain Rexall Remedies in Charleroi only at our store—The Rexall Store, Carroll Drug Store, 623 Fallowfield avenue.

When the lord chief justice visited Ireland we was often entertained by a hospitable gentleman who had an old butler, who took the privilege of speaking his mind freely. On one occasion the claret did not quite meet the host's approval, so he called the ancient butler and said:

"I told you you were to put the best claret on the table. Is this the best?" "No, sir, it is not the best claret," replied the old fellow, "but it's the best ye've got."—London Tit-Bits

Puzzled the Packer.
The first organized work of women in a relief corps was led by Florence Nightingale in the Crimean war of 1855. So unaccustomed were people to that service at the time that it called out some curious comment. Writing of "Chinese" Gordon. Dr. Butler tells in his book, "Ten Great and Good Men," how the boys at Cambridge met the call upon them for hospital stores. One day a letter came suddenly from the war office telling us that any warm clothes for the invalids at Scutari would be prized by Miss Florence Nightingale. At once in every college a committee was extemporized of leading undergraduates, charged to collect presents of flannel jackets, trousers, "blazers," rugs, greatcoats, furs, even sealskins.

In a few hours box after box was filled with these treasures, and all the boxes were kindly and gratuitously packed for us by the leading upholsterer of the town, his foreman simply remarking to me in a tone which General Gordon would have enjoyed: "A nice consignment for a lady, sir."

Cause of Twilight

Twilight is a phenomenon caused by atmospheric refraction. When the sun gets below the horizon we are not immediately plunged into the darkness of night. Although the sun is below our horizon, rays of solar light are bent or refracted by the terrestrial atmosphere and continue to furnish some slight illumination. The process continues with diminishing intensity until the sun is so far below the horizon that the refracting power of the atmosphere is no longer able to bend the rays enough to produce a visible effect. The time after sunset that the sun reaches such a position varies with the latitude of the place. There is less twilight at the tropic zone than at the temperate or frigid zone. This is due to less time taken by the sun's rays to pass through the atmosphere. At the tropic zone the sun's rays being perpendicular and at the temperate and frigid zones oblique.—New York American.

With a Grain of Salt.
The earliest record of the saying "with a grain of salt" dates back to the year 63 B. C. when the great Pompey entered the palace of Mithridates and discovered among his private papers the description of an antidote against poisons of all sorts, which was composed of pounded herbs. These, according to the recipe, were to be taken with a grain of salt. Whether this was meant seriously or as a warning sarcasm is not known, but therefore it became the custom to say that doubtful preparations should be taken with a grain of salt. From this the meaning got transferred to sayings of doubtful truth. "Attic salt" was a Greek synonym for wit or penetration, and the Latin word "sal" had somewhat of the same meaning. It is thus easy to see how the saying "cum grano salis" could have come to mean the necessity of accepting doubtful or suspicious statements "with a grain of salt."

Molokai and the Lepers.

The general idea of the leper settlement on the island of Molokai is wrong, says a writer in Harpers Weekly. Instead of the entire island being used for the leper colony the settlement comprises only eight square miles out of a total area of 261 square miles. It occupies a tongue of land on the northern side of Molokai. The north, east and west shores of this tiny spit are washed by the Pacific, while on the south side rise precipitous cliffs of from 1,800 to 4,000 feet, which make the isolation seem even more hopeless than the beautiful deep blue waters of the sea ever could. The most difficult and dangerous trail, constantly manned by government guards, leads escape, if it were ever contemplated, by the land side.

Stupid Husband of a Noted Singer.
Catalani's husband, a handsome Frenchman, was even more unintellectual than his wife—he was stupid. Once, having found the pitch of the piano too high, she said after the rehearsal to her husband: "The piano is too high. Will you see that it is made lower before the concert?" When the evening came Catalani was annoyed to find that the piano had not been altered. Her husband sent for the carpenter, who declared that he had sawed off two inches from each leg, as he had been ordered to do. "Surely it can't be too high now, my dear," said the stupid husband soothingly.

Through the Cracks.
When the celebrated divine Edward Irving was on a preaching tour in Scotland two Dumfriess men of decided opinions went to hear him. When they left the hall one said to the other: "Well, Willie, what do you think?" "Oh," said the other contemptuously, "the man's cracked!" The first speaker laid a quiet hand on his shoulder. "Willie," said he, "you'll often see a light peeping through a crack."

A Poor Player.
Griggs—So you got home from the club at midnight. Well, I suppose you told wife you had to work late at the office. Played upon her sympathies, eh? Briggs—Well, er—yes, but rather her sympathies were out of tune or I'm a damned poor instrumentalist.—Boston Transcript.

ARTISTS' EMBLEMS.

The mystic emblem or device of a sort of Whistlerized butterfly was adopted in the sixties by the eccentric genius James Abbott Whistler, who changed his name later to James Mc-Nell Whistler.

Close study will reveal that this peculiar scroll is really a monogram of J. W. The earliest of the emblems to bear the butterfly is "Chelsea Wharf" (1863), but many paintings and etchings after that date are signed "Whistler."

Artists have sometimes signed their pictures in some distinct form instead of their names. It generally was done when the name might suggest some emblem or symbol.

Sometimes caprice dictated the selection. As when Jacopo de Barberi used the caduceus, or Mercury rod; Hendrik de Bles an owl; Lucas Cranach a crowned serpent; Cornelius Engelbrecht a peculiar device resembling a weather vane and Hans Holbein a skull.

HIS GREAT IDEA.

The Tin Plated Tomato and the Moral That Goes With It.

A good theory that won't work isn't half as good as a poor one that will.

Twenty years ago a young man just out of college had a great idea. He was going to tin plate tomatoes. There was to be no more troublesome paring and cooking and canning to preserve tomatoes throughout winters. It would be necessary only to drop a nice ripe tomato into his tinning solution and it would come out coated with tin and would keep for twenty years. In fact there wasn't any reason why it should not keep forever! The young inventor figured it would cost him 50 cents a gallon to make this tinning solution. It surely would sell for $2 a gallon. Every one eats tomatoes—that is, nearly every one. Everybody would eat them if they could always have a nice tin plated tomato lying around. He ought to sell a million gallons a year. That would be a profit of a million and a half dollars. Well, no tin plated tomatoes are on the market yet, and the man who invented them is still making only $15 a week.

The moral of this is that whenever you hear of a great idea that is going to reform or uplift the world make sure that it is not of the tin plated tomato brand.—Chicago Tribune.

A Lottery Romance.

A few years ago, as the date for the drawing of the annual Christmas lottery at Madrid was approaching, a poor mechanic of Corunna was awakened three consecutive nights by the number 125,860, apparently spoken in his ear. So impressed was he by the repetition of the incident that he wrote down the number and finally said to his wife, "That number will win the first prize in the great lottery." "Then why don't you buy the ticket?" his wife answered jokingly as she looked at the figures. "Why, see, if you add them together they just come to my age. I shall be thirty-one on Christmas day." The ticket, after much trouble, was found (it had been rejected a few minutes earlier by a wealthy citizen of Corunna) and bought, and before many days had passed the mechanic and his wife were made jubilant by the news that the ticket had won the first prize of £200,000.—London Globe.

The Red Shirt.

The origin of the "red shirt"—worn as a blouse by English women in the sixties, when Garibaldi was a popular idol throughout Great Britain—is sufficiently curious. When the celebrated filibuster was warring in the South American republics he was anxious to obtain a distinctive and, above all, economical uniform for his followers. He learned that a local dry goods store had an immense "job lot" of these garments, worn by the "saladeros," or cattle slaughterers, of the great South American cities. The "bargain sale" appealed eloquently to the leader's purse, and he led his men to victory in the butchers' shirts, which are now the accepted emblem of the "risorgimento" of United Italy.—London Globe.

A Little Temperance Tragedy.

"No, I haven't."
"Yes, you have, and you'll be drunk again."
"Aw, what do you want to worry about that for? It's me that has the headache next morning."
"I know, John, but it's me that has the headache all the time."—New York Times.

The Price of Love.

Says an advertisement in the London Express: "Mary—Wanted three hours at appointed spot until questioned by suspicious policeman. If this is the price of love it is too heavy a one for me to pay. Farewell. Potts."

Time and Patience.

No road is too long for him who advances slowly, and does not hurry, and no attainment is beyond his reach who equips himself with patience to achieve it.—La Bruyere.

Vinol

Will Build You Up and Make You Strong

Old people, tired, weak, run down people, delicate children, frail mothers, and those recovering from severe illness, this is a fact.

Thousands of genuine testimonials from reliable people prove this claim, and to further support the fact and prove our faith in what we say, we unhesitatingly declare that any one who will try a bottle of VINOL will have their money returned without question if they are not satisfied that it did them good.

Lungs Declared Sound—Life Insurance Granted.

If you knew a remedy that really had cured Tuberculosis, that had saved from death quite a number of people, would you not get Consumptives interested in it and induce them to take it, or would you say nothing about it, for fear of giving offence?

We know the medicine. We know the people cured—some of them. We have the stories of cure of many—and affidavits from some. We advertise Eckman's Alternative to tell those who have lung disease what has been done by its use. Investigate the following:

1618 W. Dauphin St., Phila., Pa.
Gentlemen: "On the evening of May 18, 1897, I had five hemorrhages from the right lung. My hemorrhages kept up for one week—I had twenty-eight in all. Septic pneumonia developed. My doctor told me I had better go to another climate as my left lung had also become affected. About that time I met Howard Klotz, 1619 Susquehanna Ave., this city, who had hemorrhages several years ago and who was cured by Eckman's Alternative. I started to take Eckman's about the latter part of August, 1907. My appetite improved at once and in about two weeks I started to gain weight. I improved rapidly. Later, a very bad lameness developed in my right leg and I commenced to get a lump on my right hip. My doctor told me I was getting a tubercular abscess and that it was affecting the sciatic nerve. The lameness and lump gradually disappeared. Have not had any trouble of that nature since. Since my recovery about a year ago, I was accepted for life insurance, after two examinations by a company that had previously rejected me. I have advised several people to take Eckman's and those who took it faithfully had the same results as myself." (Signed ARTHUR) CHAS. MORGAN, Eckman's Alternative cures Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup and Lung Affecture. BATHTUBS IN MEXICO.

Made of Cement, They Are a Real Luxury in a Hot Climate.

"Unless you have been in the tropics," remarked the man who had just returned from a trip to Mexico, "you can't possibly realize how great a luxury a cold bath can be. It's not that the climate is necessarily warmer than a New York summer, but the natives have worked out the problem of bathing to its ultimate conclusions. They have invented the ideal tub."

"On the great private estates in Mexico baths are in use today which were hewn out of the solid rock centuries ago by slave labor. They are located for the most part in the vicinity of running water and are fed by bamboo pipes, but in many cases they have to be filled by the old fashioned method of carrying a bucket to and from the spring."

"In the cities the so called stone baths are made of cement. The residences of all well to do people are provided with them, and they are a feature of the native hotels. They are usually about ten feet long by four deep—baby swimming tanks, in fact."

"The tropical custom is to fill the tubs late at night. By the following morning the water will have acquired a limpid coolness that acts like a tonic upon the body. When one remembers that near the equator it is almost as warm in the morning as it is at noon and that water taken direct from the city mains is always tepid the advantage of the stone or cement bath is evident."—New York Sun.

The National Flag.

The first display of the national flag at a military post was at Fort Schuyler, on the site of the present city of Rome, N. Y. The fort was besieged early in August, 1777. The garrison was without a flag so one was made according to the prescription of congress by cutting up sheets to form the white stripes, bits of scarlet cloth for the red stripes, and the blue ground for the stars was made from a piece of the blue cloak belonging to Captain Abraham Swartwout of Dutchess county, N. Y. This flag was unfurled over the fort on Aug. 3, 1777.

The national flag was first unfurled in battle on the banks of the Brandywine Sept. 11, 1777. The flag was first hoisted over a foreign stronghold June 28, 1778, when Captain Rathbone of the American sloop of war Providence captured Fort Nassau, on the Bahama islands. Captain Paul Jones was the first man to display the American flag on an American vessel. This flag was made by the women of Portsmouth, N. H., for the Ranger, which was fitted out at that port for Captain Jones. The Ranger sailed from Portsmouth on Nov. 1, 1777.

Buried Landscapes.

One of the most curious results of geological exploration is the discovery of "buried landscapes," by which is meant parts of the former face of the earth now covered under later deposits, but yet retaining so many of their original features that the geologist can ideally reconstruct the scenes that would have been presented to the eye of man if he had been present among them. Sometimes buried landscapes exist in countries now densely inhabited. Investigation has shown that one lies beneath the region in England known as Charnwood forest. The rocky projections seen there are the peaks and aretes of a buried mountain chain belonging to the old red sandstone period. Several different phases in the history of this landscape have been traced. At one time it contained salt lakes and desert expanses. In its modern form it is a pastoral region, with barren, stony tracts and rocky eminences where the ancient mountains project through the soil.—Detroit Free Press.

Sincerity.

Be resolutely and faithfully what you are; be humbly what you aspire to be. Man's noblest gift to man is his sincerity, for it embraces his integrity also.—Thoreau.

HOW I WAS CURED OF SCROFULA

"I was in a very bad condition with scrofulous swellings round my neck. It started with a bunch on the side of my neck and it kept growing until the whole side of my face was swollen."

"I had tried everything in the shape of medicines for five years. I had gone under an operation in one of the hospitals in Boston and had them cut out. I had thirty little tubular glands taken from back of my ear down my shoulder. After the cuts healed over they started to come again and worse than before."

"After suffering so much I thought I would try Pinkham's Blood Purifier and before I had taken two bottles there was a great change in the swellings. I continued its use and to-day I am a well woman Every word of this is true."

The tendency to Scrofula seems to be hereditary and it is hard to overcome. It may lie dormant for years, and then break out anew from time to time.

The only known remedy for Scrofula is to keep the blood pure and rich by the use of a good blood purifier. It may require long treatment, but Mrs. Haynes found that Pinkham's Blood Purifier cured her of this dreadful disease, after all other means had failed.

Pinkham's Blood Purifier is equally as good for all diseases emanating from impure, impoverished blood, and is the best Spring medicine known. People will find the Blood Purifier just as reliable a remedy as the women of the world have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Unequalled—satisfying and dependable.

Look! All the poor little fish died. At the last Pittsburgh Exposition a certain business man placed in his exhibit some goldfish, filling the aquarium with distilled water to be sure that it would be perfectly clear. It was a beautiful show and the tiny little "Fan Tails" were so pretty and glistening that they were the attraction. But next day all the poor little fish were turned up on their backs—DEAD.

Distilled water may be pure—absolutely pure—but it lacks those life-giving, satisfying properties and the natural, mild minerals which Nature intended should be in a perfect, well-balanced beverage. It also lacks aeration—the air which all natural waters contain.

Whannis Water

is a natural water—pure, sparkling, satisfying. It flows from the great depths of cool, hard stone—filtered and purified, aerated and bubbling, just as Nature made it. WHANNIS WATER is one of the greatest aids toward recovery and maintenance of health. You can't drink too much of it!

LOOK OUT FOR THE CARS

DO YOU know of anyone who is old enough to read, who has not seen that sign at a railroad crossing?

If everyone has seen it at some time or other, then why doesn't the railroad let the sign rot away? Why does the railroad company continue to keep those signs at every crossing?

Maybe you think, Mr. Merchant, "Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise."

Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroad needs to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars."

The Department Stores are a very good example—they are continually advertising—and they are continually doing a good business.

If it pays to run a few ads round about Christmas time, it certainly will pay you to run advertisements about all the time.

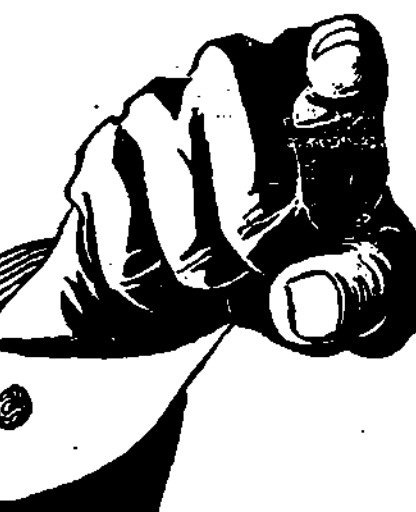

It's just business, that's all, to

M'CUTCHEON PLAY

AT COYLE THEATRE

Geo. D. Baker's adaption of Grace Hayward's dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's novel "Graustark," is to be the attraction at the Coyle Theatre Saturday night, March 25. The theme of "Graustark," is as well known as any of the novels of recent years, and the play follows closely Mr. McCutcheon's book for stage purposes. The dramatization is along romantic lines and there are numerous climaxes and situations, made more effective by presentation on the stage. The play is well constructed and acted with a dash and spirit looked for in all first class productions.

The locale of the play leads itself to beautiful scenic environments, all heightened by the costuming of the characters in the national dress of the country. The company presenting the play is an adequate one, all the members of same having been highly commended for their individual and ensemble efforts. As a dramatization of one of the popular American novels, "Graustark," is well worth seeing.

MAMY VISITORS AT

SPRING OPENING

Many visitors attended the spring opening today at Berryman's big department store. The store is finely decorated. In fact never at any previous opening was the display of goods so nicely arranged or the entire store fitted up to such advantage. The millinery department is the Mecca for women, and there is shown the latest styles and shapes of spring millinery.
